Rev. GEORGE MANN WRIGHT.

BY W. E. JUDKINS.

Rev. George Mann Wright was born in Essex county, Va., on the 7th of June, 1839, and died in Portsmouth, Va., on the morning of July 23d, 1885.

His parents were Colonel James and Mrs. Judith E. Wright. He received an academic education at Fleetwood Academy, and was preparing to enter one of our colleges when the late war began. The call to arms, however, led him to volunteer his services, and he joined a cavalry company from his native county at the commencement of the war and continued in the service until the war ended. He was converted in a meeting conducted by Rev. Charles H. Boggs, who was the chaplain of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry, and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

After the close of the war he returned to his home, and being deprived of the means for completing his education, engaged in farming for several years. During this time he felt called to the ministry, but did not make it known. To his surprise, however, others, who felt persuaded of his call—ministers and laymen—advised him to enter the ministry. At last he yielded to his convictions and their advice, and in the fall of 1869 joined the Virginia Conference at its session in Richmond. His first appointment was King William Circuit, which he travelled for three years. His next appointment was in Petersburg, at Blandford and Wesley Chapel, which charge he served three years; and from there he was sent to "Oregon," now known as "Laurel Street," Richmond, where he served four years. From there he was sent to "Scottsville Circuit," which he travelled two years, and thence to "Second Street," Portsmouth, where he was closing up his fourth year of service when death claimed him.

He was most happily married in 1878 to Miss Josie Leitch, daughter of Colonel Thomas M. Leitch, of Buckingham county, Va. This cultured Christian lady became in an eminent sense a helpmeet to him, and, with their three children, claims the tender and prayerful sympathies of his brethren. Her gentleness, deep piety, and devotion to him and his work served as a daily inspiration, and often nerved him to renewed exertion.

As a man and a minister Brother Wright was eminently popular, both with his brethren of the Conference and the people among whom he lived. He was endowed by nature with qualities unusually magnetic. Among these we may mention with emphasis his rare humor, an almost childlike simplicity of spirit, manliness without guile, warmth of affection, cordiality of manner, an unselfishness ever apparent, sympathy, generosity and frankness. Over these Divine grace presided, and wrought in him such largeness of the spirit of humanity as to lead men everywhere instinctively to hail him as a brother. He had a quick insight, and read character with more than ordinary precision; but was so noble and generous of heart, and so intent on doing good, that, where many would have shown antipathy and excited antagonism, he won and held to him respect and affection from all classes. The poorest and the richest seemed alike to enshrine him in their hearts.

As a Christian he was deeply pious. As a minister he was thoroughly consecrated. His humility and singleness of purpose were conspicuous. He was a man of one work, and so intent on saving souls and building up the Church that his zeal often led him to overexertion and hazard of health.

As a pastor perhaps few men ever excelled him. His labors in this department of ministerial work were attended with marked results. He did not stop with visiting his own people. In his last charge, especially, he was noted for his visits to all classes—often to the homes of the most destitute, not connected with his congregation. Thus did he endear himself to the people, and thus were many brought by his influence to the Church and to Christ.

As a preacher he was plain, most fervent, earnest and scriptural, having the talent largely and aptly to weave into his sermons quotations from the Word of God.

We have not the facts concerning the measure of his success in other charges, save to say his ministry was generally successful; but it has been truly said that "His last station was his throne of triumph." Here his success has rarely been equalled, and perhaps never excelled, in the history of our Conference. In a ministry of about three years and a half there were 417 conversions, 313 accessions to the church, and 214 adult and infant baptisms. The result of this spiritual success was the building of a new and beautiful church edifice, at a cost, with the ground, of about $13,000. It stands to-day, not only as one of the most beautiful church buildings in our Conference, but is a fitting monument to his memory as the product of his zeal and Godgiven success. So fully was this felt by his brother ministers in Norfolk, Portsmouth and Berkeley, and by the people of his late charge, that the church building, though named "Centenary" when dedicated, has been by vote of the Quarterly Conference changed in name, and is henceforth to be properly known as the "Wright Memorial Church." This is a tribute which, so far as we are advised, is unique in the history of our Conference. The name was thought by some the proper one as due him, when dedicated, but he would never have consented to its bearing his name while living. Now that he is gone, his brethren felt it but just to his memory.

HIS END.

Brother Wright was sick about four weeks. He was seriously sick from the first, but not thought to be dangerously so. His sickness was thought by some to be largely due to overwork in a protracted meeting held a short while before, and in pastoral visitation. He had the most skillful medical attention, and devoted, faithful nursing, not only from his wife and sister, but from experienced members of his charge. The attention and devotion of the latter to him were such as to arrest the attention and deeply touch the hearts of his friends. Public sympathy was quickly aroused. Prayer went up for him day and night. It was noted that, at our District Conference, which met during his illness, in every public prayer offered during the session special supplication went up for him. As his illness progressed and became more threatening the sympathy deepened. All classes, in and out of the Church, manifested it. His influence had made itself felt so generally, and he was so universally beloved throughout the city, that all seemed anxious to keep him back from the gates of death. From the first, however, to the last, he seemed deeply impressed with the conviction that his sickness would end in death. He was a great sufferer, not only from pain, but great nervous prostration.

On one occasion, when he seemed very much depressed, a friend who was daily nursing him said, "Brother Wright, you say you would like to live, but feel you will not get well; are you resigned either way?" When, with a smile of assurance, he answered boldly, "Perfectly, perfectly; the will of God be done." To one of his brother stewards he often said, "How glad I am that I made my preparation before this; now is no time for that. My mind is perfectly easy; all is well."

Often he would say, "How much would I love to stay with my wife and children, but God's will be done." To his wife he would say, "I shan't be with you long, but the Lord will provide." To two of the ladies of his charge, who nursed him like a son, day and night, he would often say, "How kind and faithful you are; God bless you. We shall meet and love each other in Heaven."

He retained his consciousness almost to the last hour. Among his utterances but a few hours before his death were: "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith," and "Though He slay me, yet will I trust in Him." "All's well."

Thus passed away our unselfish, noble George Wright. His death was mourned by the city. His funeral was attended by a large concourse of citizens, and his body laid to rest in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

The Ministerial Association of Portsmouth, composed of ministers of the different denominations, met and adopted a paper embodying a beautiful and brotherly tribute to his memory. His own brethren of the ministry held a similar meeting and published a paper expressive of their affection for him, and sense of loss in his death. Well has it been said by Dr. Lafferty that "He died in the arms of victory, and in the embrace of a weeping Conference."

As we assemble here to-day we realize the "gap in our ranks where our dead comrade stood." Farewell, dear brother! Of few may it be more truly said, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Rev. HARTWELL HOBBS GARY.

BY PAUL WHITEHEAD.

Rev. HARTWELL HOBBS GARY was born in Chesterfield county, Va., September 10th, 1811, and died at his home, "Solitude," in the bounds of the Scottsville circuit, Albemarle county, Va., September 3, 1885, lacking just a week of completing his seventy-fourth year.

He had the advantage of pious training, and when nearly nineteen was converted in the powerful revival which attended the ministry of Revs. Anthony Dibrell and Jesse K. Powers, in the year 1830. soon felt called to preach the gospel, but being deficient in education shrank from the work. In 1834, he entered Randolph-Macon College, remained four years, and was licensed to preach and recommended to the Annual Conference by a Quarterly Conference held in the College After traveling under the Presiding Elder he was received on trial at the Conference held in Edenton, N.C., February, 1839, and thenceforward, with exception of one year, when his health had apparently been ruined, held his place among the effective itinerant labor-After six years of supernumerary relation, during which ers till 1862. he settled his family at the home ever thereafter occupied by them, he became again effective in 1868, and had charge for eight years more at points not remote from his home. The last nine years of his life he was superannuated and often in very feeble health; but was usually able to attend Conference, where the sight and company of his brethren cheered and strengthened him, and doubtless prolonged his life. Few men enjoyed the sessions of the Annual Conference more than he.

The circuits he travelled, from Eastville to Nelson, were about a dozen; on one he labored three different times, and on two others twice. In 1854, he was appointed Presiding Elder of Lynchburg District, and in the midst of a useful career was attacked in 1856 by the disease which at first imperilled his life for a year, and subsequently harassed and enfeebled him all the rest of his days.

He was a clear, plain, vigorous preacher. His energy and zeal were great, and the work of God flourished in his hands; hundreds of souls were the seals of his ministry. He was deeply attached to our Church, and defended her doctrines and polity with force against all opposers. Eminently a man of good, practical common sense, the business interests of the Church were handled by him with skill. He increased collections, brought out deficient circuits, enforced discipline, and kept the rolls of membership correct and clean. He was a natural genius in mechanics, and often interested himself in useful work of all kinds of rare excellence and beauty. His piety was of a cheerful, decided, uniform character. It deepened and ripened with old age and afflictions.

He was twice married: first, to a Miss Hobson, of Cumberland county, who lived only about a year; next, in 1847, to Miss Sally M. Timberlake, daughter of Rev. Walker Timberlake, of Scottsville circuit. She proved to be a helpmeet indeed, and possessed his most ardent admiration, affection and trust during a wedded life of nearly thirty-eight years. She did him "good and not evil" all the days of her life, which ended about seven weeks before his death. Three children were given them—all sons: the first died in infancy in 1856, and the two others survive their parents, and at their old home cherish the memory and reverently guard the ashes of father and mother.

Brother Gary's last days were triumphant, though full of sorrow and pain. After a year of blindness, his wife was relieved by an operation for cataract in November, 1884; but in the spring and early summer of 1885 began to show symptoms of brain disease, ending in paralysis and death July 14. Crushed by the loss of his beloved wife, the veteran minister bore his grief without repining or symptom of unbelief. He made, however, no concealment of his longing to be also taken to rest. In August the disease which had broken down his constitution, now augmented by grief and yearning of spirit for the beloved companion of his heart and life, made rapid progress and brought him to the grave at the opening of September. In death he was favored with a vision of angels and of Christ, calling attention to it with a rapturous countenance, his mind being unclouded and unaffected by opiates. His last word was "Glory!"

His body and that of his wife were laid to rest in the cemetery at Mt. Olivet church, near his home. It had been one of his latest labors of pious love to aid in the repairs of the church and the laying-out and adorning of the cemetery.

Rev. JOHN NICHOLAS JONES.

BY THOMAS H. CAMPBELL.

John Nicholas Jones, eldest son of Thomas W. and Dorcas B. Jones, was born in Fluvanna county, Va., May 15th, 1839. He was reared and educated in Amherst county, Va. Was converted in the summer of 1855, under the ministry of the late Rev, Joseph Spriggs. He entered the ministry and the Virginia Conference at Norfolk, Va., in 1866, and died at Bay View, on the Eastville circuit, Northampton county, Va., July 29th, 1885, in the forty-seventh year of his age.

Soon after his conversion he was much exercised about a call to the ministry. With this writer, who was his intimate friend and schoolmate, he had frequent conversations on the subject. His entrance into the ministry was delayed by the completion of his education and the civil war until the fall of 1866. Having entered upon the work that lay nearest his heart, he was placed in charge of the West Charlotte circuit. Without experience, having attempted to preach but one time before he found himself the pastor of a charge, it is not strange that he should have thought himself a failure. He resolved to return to his home. God placed in his way one who had trod that rugged path before him. Words of encouragement held the current of life to its true channel. The year was crowned with success. The young itinerant saw the fields white unto the harvest and thrust in the sickle.

We find him in the following fields sowing seed and gathering sheaves: West Charlotte circuit; Gordonsville and Orange Courthouse station; Nelson circuit; Culpeper circuit; North Southampton circuit; Second Street (now Memorial station), Portsmouth; Liberty station; South Brunswick circuit; Amherst circuit; and Eastville circuit, where closed his earthly mission.

John N. Jones was a true man, a devoted Christian, a staunch friend, and a faithful minister of the gospel. From 1866 to 1885, with the exception of one year from ill health, he preached Christ the Saviour. Earnest, clear, forcible, he won many souls. He fell at the post of duty, in the prime of life, in the forefront of the battle.

In company with his Presiding Elder, Rev. Joseph H. Amiss, he left his home for Cobb's Island on the 25th July, to attend the dedication of a church. His Presiding Elder says of him: "On Sunday (July 26th) he took part in the dedicatory service, and preached in the afternoon his last sermon, from St. John i., 48-51 inclusive, dwelling particularly upon the last verse. The sermon was clear, spiritual, comforting, especially to the bereaved. His allusion to ministering spirits was touchingly beautiful." On Monday he returned to his home. On Wednesday evening, about 7 o'clock, after a brief but sharp illness, "he suddenly collapsed and after two or three gasps was gone." Without warning his summons came. Without a farewell word to his wife and children, he departed for his Father's home on high. He exemplified the saying, "in the midst of life we are in death." We mourn our friend and brother. We mingle our tears of sympathy with those of his widow and two orphan boys. We commend them to God, whom he served, and who has said, "Leave thy fatherless children—I will preserve them alive; and let thy widows trust in me." We miss him at our annual gathering. His name will uo more appear among the laborers who go out from hence to till the Lord's vineyard. His voice has ceased to call the erring and cheer the faint. The reins have fallen from his hands. John N. Jones will not at this session of the Virginia Conference receive his appointment from our Presiding Bishop. But, away from earth's toils, anxieties and cares, who knows but that, with the sainted Pierce and Kavanaugh, he has an appointment from the Chief Shepherd and Bishop of Souls to join that band of ministering spirits, of whom he spoke so touchingly in the last sermon he preached on the earth? Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister to them who shall be heirs of salvation? The close of our brother's life reiterates with strong emphasis the words of the Master, "Therefore, be ye also ready; for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

Rev. WILLIAM CARTER, M. D.

BY J. S. HUNTER.

WILLIAM CARTER was born in Pittsylvania county, Va., March 30, 1803. His father was Colonel Jeduthan Carter, a prominent citizen of that county, and, what was better, a godly Methodist steward. His mother was of superior stock—the Rogers family. With such heredity common place attainments would ill agree. It may be safely said that, so far from lowering the family standard of culture and goodness, he elevated it. From boyhood he was a good student, appropriating the highest advantages that the academy which he attended afforded. He chose as his profession medicine, and located for its practice at Shady Grove, Henry county, Va. Here in 1831 he obtained the best of earthly treasures in the person of Miss Sarah Ann Morris, who, throughout their long wedded life, met, in her being a helpmeet in the widest sense, the providential design of this relation. In his childhood his heart gave no response to the call of grace. Were the parental teaching and example, and other influences exerted by divine mercy, falling upon barren soil? No; if the soil was somewhat slow in its action, its return would after a while be large. In early manhood the first fruits of this return were made, his heart and life being now given to the Master.

He joined the Methodist Church. His spiritual life was like a mountain stream, large and vigorous from its very source. It was not long before he felt called to the work of the ministry. Receiving local preachers' license, he served the Church in this capacity, so far as his professional duties allowed, faithfully. But his large medical practice prevented that attention to preaching to which both his heart and conscience inclined him. Hence he gave up his secular calling, with its large income, and placed himself entirely at the disposal of the Church. He was immediately appointed by the Presiding Elder as helper on Pittsylvania circuit. Owing to the prolonged sickness of the preacher in charge, the whole work for a time devolved upon him. Yet in this, "his own country," he labored not only with great zeal, but also to the satisfaction of the people and to the profit of the circuit. With a wife and two children he received this year the pay of a single man. At the next session of the Virginia Conference, held in Norfolk, February, 1836, Dr. Carter was admitted on trial. At this time he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Hedding. His first pastoral charge was Amherst circuit. His second was Haw River circuit.

Upon the formation of the North Carolina Conference at this time, he, with his circuit, was transferred to that Conference. Soon after this, in February, 1838, he was ordained at Greensboro', N. C., to the office of Elder, by Bishop Morris. Within the bounds of the North Carolina Conference Dr. Carter spent the prime of his life. He was regarded by that body as one of its foremost men. Among the various seals of appreciation put upon him by his brethren, was his being made a delegate to the General Conference of 1854. He was ready for every good word and work. He was one of the originators and founders of the Greensboro' Female College, and for many years was a member of its Board of Trustees. He was also a trustee of Randolph-Macon College until its removal from Mecklenburg county. Both institutions received liberally of his money and other influence.

Returning at length to the Virginia Conference, failing health forbade his receiving many appointments, A superannuated relation was granted him in 1865. But with the indomitable energy that always characterized him, even beyond his power he continued to preach. "Faint yet pursuing" marks the declining years of his min-

As a preacher, Dr. Carter was accurate and strong in his presentation of truth. A life-long and intimate friend says of him: "He was a profound thinker, a sound theologian, an able expounder of the Scriptures." He was an ardent Methodist, a dear lover of the itinerancy, and was devoted in spirit and practice to the principles and simple ritual of his Church. He was no seeker of office or power; in his meekness he rather shrank from lofty positions, deeming it sufficient honor to preach the gospel to the poor.

As a Christian, it was easy to see that he had often been with Jesus. Gentle in demeanor, he had nevertheless the strength of granite. He had the charity that "thinketh no evil." In his "tongue dwelt the law of kindness." To the last he contributed regularly to connectional objects. To all appeals for help his reply was, "such as I have give I thee." During the last twenty-five years of his life patience had "its perfect work." The loss of good property, bereavement of wife and four of his nine children (the tenderest of fathers and husbands was he), failing health, and, toward the last, infant helplessness assailed him; but none of these trials wrung from him any complaint, or even caused him to utter the wish that they might have been averted. His submissive spirit was always saying. "Our Heavenly Father knows best." His was the Christ-mind. He was indeed a pure, unselfish, generous, noble spirit.

Dr. Carter's death, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Miss M. E. Carter, Durham, N. C., May 4, 1884, was due to the infirmity of age. Nature's powers were exhausted, but his mind was clear to the last. For two or three days before the end came he was scarcely able to speak. Faint whispers of love for his absent children were breathed on Sunday morning. He was fast sinking. His children present, so tender, so true, could not detain him. As the earthly Sabbath died away, his soul passed into the eternal Sabbath, the rest of God's people, for which he had been yearning. Carried to Boydton, Va., his body, after an appropriate discourse by Rev. J. W. Howell, from the text, "I have fought a good fight," etc., was lovingly laid away by the side of his dead, "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust," to await its blessed part in the first resurrection.

REPORTS.

EDUCATION.

It is at the present day generally conceded that education is the uniform development of all the essential faculties of man's nature in such harmonious and symmetrical proportion that the highest culture shall not be incompatible with the complete preservation of their original equilibrium. Excessive expansion or partial neglect of one or more elements renders the individual one-sided, unbalanced and unnatural, and defeats the aims of true culture. Preponderance of the physical, produces the animal prize-fighter and the athletic champion of the modern ring. Inordinate cultivation in the domain of the moral, presents the heartless formalist and moralist as the advocate of the repugnant theory of evolution. Disproportioned exercise in the realm of the intellectual, inflicts upon the world the monstrous mental giant, who, without the restraining and elevating influences of the moral and religious, surrenders to Satanic malevolence all his capacities, thus immensely enlarged, to be a prodigious and potential engine for the subversion of the highest interests of society and good government. Extravagant development in the department of the spiritual or religious, begets the zeal of Jehu, which is not of knowledge, and merits Paul's condemnation of the Athenians, "I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious." That system of education, then, is the true system, which takes cognizance of all the co-ordinate parts of man's being, and looks after their co-equal development; while that is the erroneous system, which ignores this uniformity of expansion, and thus becomes the prolific parent of the beastly bruiser, the bigot, the zealot, and the unscrupulous, calculating politician of modern times.

A survey of the educational field in Virginia, as well as the States of the American Union generally, reveals the fact that the system of public instruction, under civil legislation, looking mainly to the physical and intellectual, makes no adequate provision for that religious culture, with which the Christian Church, exercising a motherly supervision over all the component faculties to which attention has been adverted, aims to equip the youth for both useful citizenship on earth and in heaven for an eternal existence of happiness and glory. It is not designed to depreciate the incalculable advantages resulting from the public schools of the State, or to produce any conflict between civil and ecclesiastical enactment relative to education, but simply to give a practical and satisfactory answer to the interrogatory, "How can this mere intellectual culture which the State provides for its youth be adequately supplemented with that religious culture which the denominational institutions are most capable of imparting?" The State Legislatures, over one hundred years ago, perceiving that the union of State and Church, as it existed under the British Crown upon the establishment of national independence by the decisive victory at Yorktown, rendered the Church as impotent as was Samson, shorn of his locks by his faithless Delilah, unanimously resolved to sever it from all connection with the State, and to entrust to the people the whole momentous subject of religious culture. With great fidelity did the various Christian denominations of the land respond to the exigencies of the occasion, and now, at the end of the first century of American liberty, magnificent schools, colleges and universities are monuments of the splendid liberality and enterprise of those religious denominations, and attest the wisdom of the fathers in severing the aforesaid connection. But, at this juncture, obstacles and dangers imperil the prosperity of those ecclesiastical institutions which have thus far so successfully met the demands and expectations in the emergency resulting from this separation. The large liberality of the State Legislature in providing free education for all her children is commendable; but the frequent unfortunate employment of irreligious and sometimes immoral teachers and superintendents, who thus become the guardians of the moral and religious training of those upon whom hangs the destiny of the State, calls upon the religious denominations of the land to awake from their indifference and apathy to a grand display of enlarged liberality and enterprise on behalf of their respective institutions of learning, and thus remedy the defects and correct the errors that characterize the operations of the public school system of the State. It is supremely important that every friend of Protestant christianity should contribute liberally his patronage, his influence and his money to establish the permanency and prosperity of those valuable Church institutions, which scattered all over Virginia for male and female culture, are not only indoctrinating the minds and hearts of the children of the State in the creed and polity of individual denominationalism, but are also inculcating the eternal principles of the Christian religion and supplementing the defects of civil provision with that religious culture without which all human attainments are as "sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal."

Profoundly sensible of the pre-eminent importance and priceless value of religious culture, your committee would, with special emphasis, commend to the fostering care and support of all Methodists, clerical and lay, within the territory of the Virginia Conference, Randolph-Macon College, that great central Institution, which, being the potent defender and expounder of Methodist doctrine and polity, and being indissolubly connected with the VERY successful existence of Virginia Methodism, is worthy of paramount consideration—whose graduates and students have, for the past fifty years, adorned every social, civil and religious profession and enterprise, furnishing at the present time eighty representatives in the Virginia Conference, forty in the Baltimore Conference, and eighteen undergraduates, now passing through the theological department of their Alma Mater; whose hands, in her dependence, are confidently extended to all her beneficiaries and supporters with motherly importunity, entreating them for a speedy consummation of the scheme for raising an endowment fund that will render her absolutely secure and independent. The broad liberality of some of the cities and rural districts has already contributed more than one-half of the $100,ooo which it was determined at the last Conference to raise. And now, free from the incubus of debt, in the possession of beautiful, spacious and healthy grounds, upon which are erected elegant educational edifices, convenient cottages for dormitories of students, and handsome residences for professors, having a flattering number of students at the present time, and a corps of accomplished and experienced professors in the several departments of study, among them that of Greek and Oriental Languages, recently added, Randolph-Macon College presents an array of interests and attractions which appeal with eloquent emphasis to all the clerical and lay members of the two Conferences tributary to her support—not only to those who have been the recipients and beneficiaries of her advantages, but also to all the other members, who, although having received their eduction at other schools, must needs realize and appreciate the paramount importance and persistent effort to secure on behalf of this noble institution the large patronage and donations of the living, and also the princely legacies and bequests of the dying, and thus establish her success during the ensuing Conference year, upon a granite foundation of permanency and usefulness.

Your committee would cordially recommend to the confidence and patronage of the Methodists within the bounds of the Virginia Conference the following institutions for the education of young ladies, as sustaining a more or less intimate relation to this Conference and to Virginia Methodism:

- I. NORFOLK COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES, of which Rev. R. M. Saunders, a member of this Conference, is Principal, has a corps of fifteen distinguished professors and teachers, more than three hundred pupils, and is, in its elegant architecture and modern educational appliances, one of the most conspicuous ornaments of the city of Norfolk and State of Virginia.
- 2. WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE, Murfreesboro, N. C., under the presidency of Prof. E. E. Parham, A. M., with an able faculty, presents the great advantage of a thorough literary and musical education at remarkably small expense.
- 3. DANVILLE COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES, under the joint principalship of Profs. Blackwell and Sharp, who are assisted by a full Board of Instructors, gives promise of a successful career of usefulness.
- 4. THE SOUTHERN FEMALE COLLEGE, under the presidency of Prof. Williams T. Davis, who has at his command a thoroughly competent corps of teachers in all the departments of a first-class school, is one of the oldest institutions in the bounds of the Virginia Conference for the education of young ladies.
- 5. Bon AIR INSTITUTE, located at Charlotte C. H., Va., under the presidency of Rev. E. A. Gibbs, a member of the Virginia Conference, is well equipped for its work, and is in a prosperous condition.
- 6. Bowling Green Female Seminary, located at Bowling Green, Caroline Co., Va., under the principalship of Mrs. W. T. Chandler, assisted by a full board of accomplished teachers, combines the attractions of health, ample accommodations for boarders, and all the facilities for a thorough education.
- 7. SUFFOLK FEMALE INSTITUTE, located at Suffolk, Va., under the management of the Misses Finney, is in a most flourishing condition, and presents unusual attractions of health, home comforts, and the advantages of a well-arranged and extensive curriculum.

The Board has much gratification in reporting such an array of colleges and institutes for the education of young ladies, all of which are under the supervision of Methodist principals or presidents, and are to a greater or smaller extent conducted in the interests of Methodism.

The following resolutions having been adopted by the committee, are hereby recommended to the Conference:

- I. Resolved, That the sum of $3,500 be assessed on the Conference as the educational collection, being the same amount that was assessed last year.
- . 2. Resolved, That the Bishop presiding at the present session of the Conference be and he is hereby requested to re-appoint Rev. W. W. Bennett, D. D., President of Randolph-Macon College; Rev. R. M. Saunders, President of the Norfolk College for Young Ladies; Rev. E. A. Gibbs, President of Bon-Air Institute; and Rev. Wilbur F. Tillett, Professor in Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.
- 3. Resolved, That we rejoice at the great liberality displayed by the Methodists of Lynchburg and Danville in the effort now being made to secure an endowment fund for Randolph-Macon College, and heartily commend their example to the imitation of the various circuits and stations within the bounds of the Virginia and Baltimore Conferences in the further endeavor to place this time-honored institution of learning upon a firm financial footing, that it may prosecute its great work with efficiency and success.

RANDOLPH-MACON COLLEGE.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. President and Brethren,—In presenting this report of the eighth year of my work at the College, it is scarcely necessary that I should call your attention to the demand upon all the churches of this country for increasing devotion to the work of Christian education. The general awakening among Church people of all classes is a most encouraging sign. There can be no work superior to that of religious culture. The duty of teaching men the truth has been imposed upon the Church by the Master in his memorable charge, "Go ye into all the world and teach all nations."

Besides the general reasons which should keep the churches up to this all-important work, there are special reasons growing out of the altered condition of public affairs in this country which should impel the churches to redouble their efforts in behalf of education. When by the rapid movement of a political and social revolution destined never to return upon its course for the correction of any evils it may have imposed, the power of the ballot is placed in the hands of stolid and vicious ignorance, and that ignorance places itself in the political markets as a purchasable commodity, we may well tremble for the future of our country. This is but one of the appalling facts of the present day. There is but one cure for 'his social cancer, and that is to be found in the education of the masses of the people under a careful system of religious culture. The moral nature must be educated to see the great wrong of this and all the kindred vices which infest and threaten the very existence of society. In this great work the schools of the Christian Churches can never be displaced or merged in any manner into such as may be under the patronage of the State without serious peril to our best interests. What we need for the uplifting of the masses who are to control and govern under our system, is a plan of education which shall bring human nature under the authority of the truth. This the schools of the churches do, and are expected to do; and no other can do it in a manner anything like as positive. The negative attitude of a great number of secular and State schools towards the Bible and Christianity is the dead fly in their otherwise valuable pot of ointment. They may give the mind much culture, but after all it is only sharpening instruments of evil.

Not only must the Church schools maintain at the highest point the authority of the revealed truth of God, but they should throw the whole weight of their influence against any scheme of secular education which tends in the least degree to depreciate Divine Revelation. If this great light be extinguished in our schools, then, indeed, shall our youth walk in darkness and in the shadow of death.

The conservative influence which is to save this land from the evils which threaten it must come from the churches. But they must be pure themselves, and all their educational fountains must be pure, before they can send life-reviving streams among the people. Every Christian school that is maintained in vigor and efficiency is one of these fountains. The young men trained in them are brought daily in contact with religious truth and in daily association with religious teachers, who even in the class-rooms seek to lead their minds to the high and noble things of the Gospel. Thus trained young men go forth not to question, but to bow in reverence before the Word of God, taking it as the man of their counsel and the light of their pathway through life. Each one becomes a centre of moral as well as intellectual power in society, and the heart is trained in the truth while the mind is led on in the paths of science.

In being asked to maintain Christian schools, our people are asked to aid in such a work as this. Can they hesitate? Do they not know that they are bound to help such a work either on the high ground of Christian duty set forth by our Lord himself, or on the low ground of selfishness as evinced by a wish to be protected from the rude hand of agrarianism which is even now stretched out to tear away from us our precious savings. On either ground we may stand forth as the helpers of Christian schools. Build them up, make them strong all over the land, grade them as needed from the Academy to the University; fill their chairs with men that truly fear God and work righteousness, who are not ashamed to be known as Christian men; send the young men of your households to these Christian schools, and let them receive whatever measure of mental training you can afford them in the midst of religious influences and under religious men, and then you will have the pleasing consciousness of having done your part in the work of Christian education in your generation.

It is exceedingly gratifying to me to be able to present you your College in an advanced condition of prosperity.

The number of students is greater than it has been for several years, and a much smaller number than usual are in our preparatory classes, showing that the training schools are doing much better work in preparing young men for the colleges.

The number of students paying full tuition is larger than for several years, which gives the College a larger income from this source. We have eighteen young men preparing for the Christian ministry, and nearly 70 per cent. of the students are Church members, while all are as moral and gentlemanly in their general conduct as I have known them to be since I have had charge of the Institution. All the Professors are members of our Church, and teach in the Sunday School with interest and success. Besides class, prayer and other social meetings, we have a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association organized in the College, of which the Professors and a large majority of the students are active members.

As much the larger number of our students are from families of moderate means, we aim to impress upon the young men the duty of economy in the use of money, and it is to us a most gratifying fact that the cost of a first-class education is less at Randolph-Macon than at many academies and preparatory schools. As the endowment of the College increases, we can afford to reduce the charges to a sum within the reach of nearly all who have sons to educate.

It affords me a peculiar pleasure to announce to the Conference a decided increase of interest among our people in behalf of the College. By the earnest and persistent labors of Prof. W. W. Smith, who was authorized to engage in the work of increasing the Endowment Fund during the past summer, and the timely and hearty aid of leading members of this body as well as that of many of our leading members, male and female, a considerable addition was made to this fund. In Lynchburg, a generous subscription of $25,000 was made for the endowment of the Chair of English Literature; and in Danville, although our people were heavily burdened for various Church interests, a subscription of $15,000 was made, with the purpose of raising it ultimately to $25,000. On the $15,000, the Danville friends generously paid the interest in advance. From the intimations already given, we are led to hope that in other cities of the Conference, and in the circuits these noble examples will be followed, and the Endowment Fund be raised to a sum sufficient to place the College above all contingencies. That this can be done no one can doubt who knows the pecuniary ability of the one hundred thousand Methodists and their friends within the bounds of the patronizing Conferences.

In no way can this be more effectually and speedily done than by the hearty cooperation of the preachers with those who may be specially charged with the prosecution of this work. This we believe we shall have in every field of labor.

There are some special needs, among which I will only mention now a fund for the erection of a suitable library building, and for the regular increase of the supply of books. Some generous person of means has in this work an opportunity of doing a noble work for the present and successive generations, and of associating his name with an enduring monument of the greatest value.

I am glad to know that there is a growing tendency among our people and the friends of the Church to aid the College by legacies of lands and other forms of value. The preachers can help greatly in this special department by directing the minds of our friends to this really great privilege of sustaining the work of Christian education. We look for valuable results from this source if diligent attention be given to the matter by those who are in daily pastoral intercourse with thoughtful and liberal persons.

The buildings and premises of the College are in good condition. We have recently erected two new and very handsome commodious dwellings for the use of Professors, and now all of the officers are provided with pleasant residences.

The corps of instruction has been reinforced by the election of Richard M. Smith, M. A. of the University of Virginia, and Ph. D. of the University of Leipsic, to the Chair of Greek and Oriental Languages. After a residence of three years abroad, this gentleman returned home, entered upon his duties at the opening of the present session, and promises the greatest usefulness to the Institution.

The present improved condition of the College, after a long and most useful career of more than fifty years, should bring us to the determination to allow Randolph-Macon to lack for nothing necessary to more extended usefulness.

Respectfully submitted,

W. W. BENNETT, PRESIDENT.

PUBLISHING INTERESTS.

A good book is an unordained preacher, but it must be an itinerant or its ministry will be a failure. It matters not how the new publication may be introduced to its readers, or by whom this service may be rendered, but it is a condition indispensable to the possible usefulness of the work of any author that it be placed in the hands of those who are willing to pay for it. Homes, which cannot be frequently visited by the preacher may nevertheless retain permanently a suitable representative of the absent pastor, if some book or periodical, selected by himself, shall have been left behind him to recall his presence, and perpetuate his personal influence. With practised art, we may point the despised book-agent to the front gate, but if the lamp-light shall reveal to our eyes the track over which a prophet of God travelled in quest of a higher knowledge of Jesus and a richer experience of His love, the work of the unknown stranger will not be left out of the divine estimate of what we have thought and said and done.

But it is too late in the day to spring a discussion about the value of a good book or the relation of mutual dependence between a Church and its literature. The question now to be entertained by us may be stated in this way: Inasmuch as we have a connectional establishment to furnish our families and our Sunday Schools with such reading material as we ordinarily need, and with such new publications as may come to us, from time to time, through the hands of the Book Editor, ought there not to be among us an ever-increasing interest in the great work of placing this abundant supply of Church literature in the very homes where our ministrations as shepherds of the flock of God would be continually enhanced by such invaluable help? If there has been but little done in this direction, are we entirely blameless? Have we accomplished less than the Church had a right to demand at our hands? If so, then we do not need any explanation of the language of Dr. McFerrin when he says: "While the business of the House is in the main increasing, and its influence more generally felt than ever before, we regret that our people, in the aggregate, do not purchase and read more of our books and periodicals. If you will compare the number of members-now nearly one million-with the cash value of our books and periodicals sold, you cannot fail to see that many thousands in our communion never avail themselves of the benefit of our Church literature."

This fact, so greatly deplored in the central office at Nashville, might become distressingly notorious if it were to be told that the sale of 4,000 copies of any comparatively popular work would be an extraordinary evidence of appreciation upon the part of the reading public, while nineteen-twentieths of such publications as comprise between 200 and 400 pages rarely exhaust the first edition.

We must acknowledge that former methods of distribution appear to have been supplanted by various modern conveniences, and that the travelling bookstore in the shape of a Methodist preacher may never again be recognized as an institution in this country, but the work of supply must not, on that account, be transferred to any agency which cannot be controlled by the voice and will of the Church. Could we not devise a system of colportage to meet and remove the difficulty? If we can perfect a plan to secure this end, ought we not to attempt it, at an early day, in all the Districts of our Annual Conference?

The report of the Book Agent, containing a statement of the condition of the Publishing House at the close of the fiscal year ending April 1, 1885, was satisfactorily explained by Bro. L. D. Palmer, who represented our Connectional interests at Nash-ville with great personal affability and patience.

From this very important document we learn that "aside from the remnant of the debt of 1878, the House owes nothing. The stock of merchandise and raw material in all the departments has been fully kept up, and, in the aggregate, has been increased. We are also informed that during the year the bonded debt has been reduced to the extent of $20,725, and that a larger number of the 4 per cent. bonds, issued to cover the debts of 1878, could have been retired had they been offered in payment of indebtedness incurred by the patrons of the House. Some objection has been raised to the purchase of these bonds on the market at their commercial value, whenever the funds of the House shall be available for that purpose, but your Committee is of opinion that whatever is regarded as a legitimate business transaction between Christian tradesmen should not be censoriously criticised in the absence of a sufficient cause of disapproval. By careful management the bonded debt of this great Connectional Establishment ought to be reduced to $100,000 before the next session of our General Conference.

After a careful review of the work of the Book Agent, we are convinced that a more satisfactory exhibit of the affairs of the House could be made if the items of expenditure and the total income in each department of the work were kept separate in the summary of business as published in said report. In addition to this suggestion, which is respectfully submitted, we desire to express the reasonable hope that the actual earnings of the Publishing House are not derived largely from the circulation of our Sunday School periodicals. All publications of this character should be furnished to our people at such prices as shall certainly cover the cost of printing and local transportation, but a department of our Church work so thoroughly missionary in its methods ought not to be taxed to defray the current expenses of the House.

We commend our own Sunday School literature to all our churches and to the officers and teachers in all our schools. If a denominational enterprise is not cared for by the denomination to which it belongs, it must be expected to wither and die. Our own Church has made ample provision for our own Sabbath School work, and the books and papers and carefully edited magazines and quarterlies which it furnishes for the use of earnest workers, ought not to be either neglected on the one hand, or on the other discarded in favor of such material as may be obtained from rival denominations.

The Quarterly Review, edited by Rev. J. W. Hinton, D. D., and published in Macon, Ga., under the auspices and with the official sanction of our Church, is entitled to the support of our preachers and people.

The Christian Advocate, issued by our Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn., and edited by Rev. O. P. Fitzgerald, D. D., has won high praise as a religious journal conducted in the interest of the Church at large. It is circulated extensively throughout the bounds of Southern Methodism.

The Richmond Christian Advocate, edited by Rev. Dr. J. J. Lafferty, is an essential factor in the successful prosecution of our Church work in the Virginia Conference. It is not only a most excellent family paper, but it is an invaluable friend of the pastor. It ought to have ten thousand subscribers, and we cordially commend it to the patronage of our people.

We respectfully suggest that hereafter there shall be appointed at each session of the Annual Conference, if it be deemed advisable, a special committee to consider the general subject of Colportage, and to review such work as may have been done during the current year, within the limits of our Conference territory. The object of the movement to be secured by this recommendation is not only the distribution of a healthy Church-literature among our Methodist population in Virginia, but particularly the circulation of our own books and periodicals, now furnished promptly and at satisfactory prices by our Publishing House at Nashville. If we will only provide in some way for the tuition of our children in the distinctive tenets of Methodism, we may, without fear, entertain the conviction that the connectional interests of the Church will be safe in their hands when their fathers shall have passed to the heavenly rest.

W. G. STARR, Chairman.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The Sunday School Board offer the following report:

Continued progress in the work of religious instruction to the young gives great satisfaction to the toilers in our Lord's vineyard. It is found that there is an increase in the number of scholars reaching 2,302 over the statistics of last year, so that our rolls now aggregate 48.421. Twenty-eight new schools are reported. The increase in officers and teachers is found to be 423. The increase in the number of schools holding teachers' meetings is also quite gratifying, as 101 pastors report an affirmative answer to the question this year, but only 32 gave such answer last year. The Board would again urge the great importance of these meetings. Wherever at all practicable they should be regularly held, in order that an opportunity may be afforded for mutual improvement and encouragement. A work so intimately connected with the eternal welfare of souls should have every possible advantage from the study which the wisest thinkers can give, and study must be greatly facilitated by a comparison of views among those engaged in the same great enterprize. Let the advance in this respect be continued until these useful gatherings shall be the rule in all parts of the Conference.

Your Board also find that there has been some small improvement in the number of schools that continue their sessions throughout the year, though the increase is by no means proportionate to the importance of the subject. To suspend Sabbath School work during the winter months is a misfortune which ought to be avoided by every Christian worker. To keep up religious instruction for the young throughout the year is so important that it is hoped no reasonable effort will be spared by officers and teachers to accomplish an end so desirable. The practicability of such continuance, we think, can be demonstrated wherever there is a willingness to make exerting for keeping the church building in proper condition.

In reference to the use of Southern Methodist literature, the gratifying information comes to us that our recommendations have been so far heeded as to reduce the number of charges using foreign literature to five. It is hoped that at the next Conference we will be able to report our own papers in every Circuit and Station within our bounds. It is difficult to find a reason for seeking supplies elsewhere, when our own storehouse is so replete with every requisite for successful teaching and at a price of which no one can complain.

The number of scholars reported to us from Union schools shows a decrease. Your Board would recommend the organization of Methodist schools, to the discouragement of what are called Union schools, wherever practicable, believing that such a course is more promising of advantage to the efficiency of the work, but where a Union school must exist, or the children be left without a Sunday School, then the preacher should be careful to ascertain and report the number supplied by Methodist families.

The most joyous part of the information reaching us is that relative to conversions among the scholars in our schools. Two thousand three hundred and sixty four souls are reported as having professed faith in Christ during the year. This is an increase over last year of 298. Knowing that "this earth affords no lovelier sight than a religious youth," we thank God and take courage at this result, but hope for yet better showings in the future. What work more deserving of attention than that of "leading the little children to the Saviour's waiting arms?" What more glorious scene do the angels gaze upon on our sinful planet, than that afforded by the flocking of young persons to the standard of our Immanuel? Let Sabbath School toilers be mindful of the high dignity and worth of that enterprize which brings the children under such influences as will render it very probable that their budding intellects will apprehend and their young hearts will receive the blessings offered in redemption's scheme. Let it be everywhere emphasized that Methodism has a mission to the children; and that duty, no less than privilege, will call for untiring zeal in making our Sunday School sessions tributary to the conversion of the scholars. The following resolution is offered for adoption:

Resolved, That our preachers and laymen are urged to bring the facts of this report before the people and as far as possible to co-operate with the members of the Board in an endeavor to carry out the teaching thereof.

BIBLE CAUSE.

The Committee on the Bible Cause would offer the following:

The Bible Cause is one in which every Protestant Church must feel a most lively interest. Recognizing this Cause as second to none in intrinsic value and far-reaching effect, the Virginia Annual Conference has for many years manifested its appreciation of it by raising annually a Committee to bring it to the attention of the Church and impress on it the great importance it attaches to the publication of God's Holy Word and its circulation among the people. The resolutions annually adopted binding the Body to use all proper efforts to aid the Virginia Bible Society in its efforts to circulate the Scriptures, have never received a negative vote, and their endorsement has been annually published to the world.

The Virginia Bible Society was organized in 1813. In 1816, when the American Bible Society was formed, it became an auxiliary to that Society. Thus for over seventy years it has been engaged in its special work of circulating the Scriptures without note or comment.

It seeks especially to reach those sections of the State where the people are most destitute of God's Word, seeking to do this work as missionary work—not counting the cost—lest these people die without the knowledge of a Saviour. Wherever such dark regions exist, it is ready to send a Colporteur with the leaves for their healing.

In our favored State these dark corners are not numerous, but even in the oldest counties there is partial destitution. In the last few weeks over a hundred dollars' worth of Bibles were sent to the section where Washington was born, and as many to one of the original Colonial counties on the James. The work must go on continuously, as families multiply, otherwise destitution will ensue, and with destitution, ignorance and vice.

For the work of supplying the more favored counties, where the destitution is not very great, the Society is now relying mainly on the Colportage agencies of the Churches, selling them Bibles at 25 per cent. discount from price-list. This arrangement also extends to ministers of the Co-operating Churches, a number of whom are interesting themselves in supplying Bibles to their people. It would be very gratifying to the Society to have many more co-operating in this work.

The American Bible Society is now publishing the Bible in over 250 languages and dialects, and annually expends over $150,000 in translating the Scriptures into the languages of the Heathen and Pagan nations of the world. Towards this great work the people of this favored State afforded last year very little, if any, aid. Nevertheless, the missionaries they sent out had equal benefit with other Churches sending missionaries abroad. It is not proper that Virginia Churches should be thus receiving benefits gratuitously when they can aid in doing something in this good and great work.

In view of these facts, the Committee offer the following resolutions for adoption:

1. Resolved, That this Conference recognizes and appreciates the great work which the Virginia Bible Society is endeavoring to accomplish, as eminently promotive of the evangelization of the State and the preservation of religious light and liberty among the people.

2. Resolved, That the ministers with charges, wherever it is practicable, will lay the claims of the Society and its work before their congregations and endeavor to secure their direct aid to the Society.

Respectfully submitted,

The Norfolk City bonds held by the Society matured July 1st, 1885, and were paid July 1sth. The Treasurer could not reinvest these bonds without paying a premium of 6 per cent. and thus sinking nearly $900 of our principal, and reducing our annual income by more than $50. After consulting with our President and others, Messrs. Dillard and Davis, attorneys, were empowered to invest the amount for us on first mortgages on real estate. The following loans have been made—the first by the Treasurer with advice of one of our Board, and the remainder by attorneys Dillard and Davis:

₹885.	July	II.	By cash of City Treasurer in payment of bonds matured July 1st		$14,900 00
	"	27.	By cash paid T. C. Gayle, Treasurer Granby- Street church, for three negotiable notes
	66		of $1,000 each, payable in 1,2 and 3 years,	$3,000	00
	••	30.	To cash paid per Dillard and Davis for mortgage of B. Doran (par $4,000)	3,960
	46	6.	To cash paid for same for mortgage of D.	3.900
	A 110		Heffron (par $1,500)	1,470	00
	Aug.	10.	To cash per same for mortgage of C. B. Beale (par $2,000)	1,980	00 .
	66	17.	To cash paid per same for mortgage of P.	-,,,
	.,		O'Connor (par $1,500)	1,485	00
	66	29.	To cash paid per same for mortgage of S. S. Hinton (par $3,000)	2,970	00
	Nov.	II.	To cash balance in hands of Treasurer	35
,					- $14,900 00

The par value of these investments is $15,000. The balance in hand is $35. We have therefore a gain of $135 on our capital. The investments are believed to be safe, being made on property the value of which largely exceeds the amount loaned and which is insured in solid companies for our benefit.

RECAPITULATION.

Mortgages and notes as above bearing 6 per cent interest	$15,000	00
Publishing House bonds bearing 4 per cent. interest	200
Interest notes, payable in '86, '87	170
Certificate of Receivers of Exchange National Bank		76
Cash balance in hands of Treasurer		74
Total assets	$16,265	50

It will be found on examination that there has been some increase over last year in receipts from subscriptions, from donations and from interest; an increase, however, which is very nearly balanced by an increased appropriation and by a probable loss by the failure of the Exchange National Bank.

The Treasurer has given much time and labor to the duties of his office; has corresponded extensively with the ministry and laity, endeavoring thereby to awaken interest in our work, and has notified every subscriber of his dues and solicited payment.

The number of subscribers on our books is 2,162, and the amount of subscription $52,640. Of these subscribers less than 250 have paid in full. Many have died; many have become unable to pay; while some have grown careless and indifferent. We cannot therefore anticipate a large increase in our capital from our present subscription. We trust that the wisdom of the Board will be equal to the task of devising such measures as will awaken a renewed interest in our Society and its work and enlarge its usefulness.

CHURCH EXTENSION-No. 1.

The Board of Church Extension, after due consideration of the applications properly before them, have made the following donations:

Cocean View, Bell Haven Circuit	$150 00
Petersburg District— Ivor, Wakefield Circuit	200 00
Norfolk District— Oaklett Chapel, East Norfolk Circuit	300 00
Danville District— Antioch, East Halifax Circuit	300 00

Applications were received also from Woodland, Northampton Circuit, and Branch-ville, Boykins Circuit, Murfreesboro District; Grace church, Cambridge, and Cape Charles City, Cobb's Island Mission, Eastern Shore District; Ettrick, Petersburg District; Salem, Buckingham Circuit, Lynchburg District; and Wattsboro, West Lunenburg Circuit, Farmville District, but as these applications were not made in conformity to the regulations of the Board, or the deeds were defective, they could not be considered.

For the information and guidance of all concerned, the Board would announce their purpose to adhere inflexibly to the regulations adopted in 1883 and approved by the Annual Conference. These regulations are plainly printed on the forms prepared by the Board and furnished to all applicants, and may be easily complied with. After three years' experience, the Board are satisfied that the enforcement of said regulations is necessary to the proper administration of the trust committed to them.

After making the appropriations already announced, there remain in the treasury several hundred dollars. This money may be needed and urgently needed by some, or even all of the parties whose applications were not considered, but in the absence of the information withheld from the Board by non-compliance with the reasonable requirements of the Board, it was impossible for us to say which of these applications, or whether any of them, are deserving.

CHURCH EXTENSION-No. 2.

The Board of Church Extension beg leave to make a further report of their action: The amount of $200 was appropriated to Wattsboro, West Lunenburg Mission. The Board also adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That $400 be granted to Grace church, Cambridge, Md.; provided, that the money be not paid until the Executive Committee of the Board shall have been satisfied that the title to the land on which the said church stands is perfect.

TEMPERANCE.

The Committee on Temperance beg leave to report as follows:

The progress of public sentiment towar I what is called "local option," has given encouragement to many pious and patriotic men. The Centennial of temperance work has revealed a state of things which Christians will study. In the course of the one hundred years since the publication of the pamphlet by Dr. Rush on the effects of intoxicants upon the human body, many theories as to the best means of suppressing the evils of strong drink have been advocated, tried, found defective and abandoned, Men of much talent and large experience have given some of their best thinking to the questions involved in the important subject of protecting the homes of our nation from the dangers of the inebriating draught. The conclusion now reached by constant students of the difficult but very solemn problem, seems to be this, viz: that the danger to society can be successfully met only by legislative interference. So long as saloons are allowed to offer freely the tempting and deceptive glass, just so long will victims be found, just so long will wives be made widows, children be made orphans, prosperous citizens be made paupers, and the enemy of souls triumph in human woe; just so long, too, will the gospel preacher find his way blocked up by difficulties so appalling that he will be almost ready to cry out in agony of soul for release from what seems fruitless toil. Hence there is cause for joy in the hope that the next Legislature of Virginia will take some action giving our citizens an opportunity to decide for themselves relative to the sale of intoxicants. Both of the great political parties are pledged by their platforms to such a policy, and virtuous citizens will expect compliance with the promises voluntarily given. Refusal would be such treachery as we trust will not be found in men exalted to positions of legislative duty and honor. The public servant guilty of such lack of fidelity could expect nothing but condemnation by his constituents and dishonor throughout the State. The Church, then, may expect in the near future, an exercise of the elective franchise in Virginia similar to that now about to take place in Georgia and other Southern States, and which has already been quite decisive in several States north of us. The question arises, What does duty require of God's servants in such a crisis? Whenever the Master's cause is endangered, or whenever an occasion is offered for facilitating the removal of impediments to Gospel success, can the Christian be indifferent to the issue? As well say we can love and hate the same being in the same sense, and at the same moment of our existence, as to say the child of God can be careless of moral issues. The Church must not be deterred from her duty by the cry of "politics in religion." There are subjects, which, from their very nature, belong to both the forum and the pulpit. The statesman and the ecclesiastic must work together on some lines. Principles learned at the foot of the Cross must not be abandoned by the Saviour's disciples, simply because legislators have been brought up to a recognition of their truth and their importance. While motives of political economy may influence politicians, the salvation of souls will move us to sympathy for and activity in every cause tending to the education of the people toward the removal of the saloon's temptation. Hence, the crisis alluded to seems plainly a call to the church to use all prudent means for portraying the advantages of such removal and (without partisan prejudice and without alliance with any political organization) to expose the sophistry of men who claim personal liberty to tempt our children to dissipation and crime. It is poor logic to argue that we must keep aloof from the subject because of the prophecy that "prohibition will not prohibit." Certainly non-prohibition does not prohibit. Let us try that which, from the very nature of civil society, is more likely to bring good results. License has brought evil, and only evil, and that continually; let prohibition have a fair trial. The very fact of prophecy as to the failure of a good law shows the need of a process tending to educate the public mind. The position of an ecclesiastical body so large as that of Virginia Methodism is too important a factor to be disregarded. Let it be sounded abroad that our prayers and our exertions will be constantly and freely given to all fair means for the removal of a traffic fraught with physical and moral death.

The following resolutions are offered for adoption:

- 1. Resolved, That we regard it religiously important to have our membership entirely free from all complicity with the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.
- 2. Resolved, That we urge fidelity to disciplinary teaching and regard it highly necessary to have uniformity of administration throughout our Conference on a matter so vital.
- 3. Resolved, That we look with confidence to Virginia law-makers for a fulfilment of pledges so plainly given to the people in published platforms.

Respectfully submitted,

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

The District Conference Records of the following Districts were before the Committee, viz: Charlottesville, Farmville, Richmond, Lynchburg, Danville, Eastern Shore and Norfolk.

The records of the Charlottesville, Farmville, Richmond, Lynchburg and Danville Districts were examined, and your Committee report no defect found therein.

In the records of the Eastern Shore and Norfolk Districts the following defects were noted:

No roll containing names of members. Absentees not known.

The name of the Presiding Elder officiating does not appear in the first page of proceedings.

Nor does his name appear, except at the close as President, except on the report on Colportage, third day, A. M.

Third day, morning, "order of the day," not stating what it is.

Lacks neatness and clerical accuracy.

NORFOLK DISTRICT-

No roll showing absentees—only names of persons present.

Does not record who presided on the afternoon of second day.

Third day, A. M., there is reference to matter in appendix which does not appear. D. Granby St.

Report of Foreign Missions Committee does not appear in appendix.

PAINE INSTITUTE.

The Committee on Paine Institute present the following report:

In connection with the now well-known movement to establish a suitable training school for preachers and teachers in the Colored M. E. Church, there are facts that should be placed before the friends of this Church which may awaken a greater interest than heretofore has been shown. It is known to all who note such matters, that after the close of the late war fully three-fourths of the 200,000 colored members of our Church were induced by various influences to enter into other colored churches. A fragment of some 50,000 was left to us, out of which was organized, under our auspices, the Colored M. E. Church in America. In one decade and a half this body has grown to a membership of about 130,000. Soon after its regular organization as a Church, the necessity appeared for preachers of better culture than could be furnished from the ranks of the membership at that time. In comparison with other Colored Churches whose ministers had enjoyed the benefits of long-established schools and colleges, this Church suffered so greatly that it became apparent that no real advance could be made without a better educated ministry. An effort was therefore made to establish a school in Louisville, Ky., which ended in a disastrous failure, the particulars of which need not now be recited. A second and more successful attempt was made in Tennessee, and Lane Institute at Jackson is a growing proof of the persistence of the colored people in a work of so great importance to them. This school has had a feeble existence, though it has done much excellent work in the way of general education. But the necessity grew more and more pressing for a training-school under careful and judicious management, and at the General Conference of 1882, in response to an appeal from the General Conference of the Colored M. E. Church, a plan was reported from the Committee on Education and adopted by the Conference for the establishment of Paine Institute in the city of Augusta, Ga. Without referring to the serious drawbacks which the movement met in its earliest stages, it gives us pleasure to know that now the Institute is in successful operation and at an annual outlay surprisingly small, considering the character of the work done. If an amount very small, in view of the ability of our Church, could be obtained, the school will secure an admirable location just beyond the limits of the city of Augusta, embracing fifty acres of land, with a large and substantial building which can be altered at a moderate cost to meet all the wants of the school. We learn that with the income from the $25,000 already offered by a generous friend in Missouri, and pledged annual help from another source, together with a small tuition-fee from the students, the school will have ample means to meet all its current expenses.

In view of their obligations to the colored people of the South, we do not see how the white people of the South can fail to respond to this appeal for a little timely help. Of all the histories of the nations, that of the South alone presents the instance of a servile race faithful and quiet at the homes of their masters during the greatest internecine strife that the world has known. Nay, not only faithful and quiet, but constantly laboring to furnish supplies to the helpless women and children at home, and the main sinews of war to the soldiers in the army at the front.

Incidentally alone are the colored people connected with the various conflicts in which they have been made important elements. The sordid spirit of gain introduced them into this country, and in all subsequent periods of social and political excitement they have been made the innocent victims of designing men. It remains for us to do our part, and no small part, in their rescue from teachings and influences dangerous and degrading alike to them and the race in whose midst they are to live.

The existence of the Colored M. E. Church we consider as providential in connection with the appalling and unsettled race question which confronts every thoughtful person in our land. Such a Church, composed of many of the best of the negro race in the South and constantly increasing in numbers and influence, cannot fail to exert a conservative control of the most beneficial character on large masses of this race in the South and to a large extent prepare missionaries for their brethren on the Dark Continent.

We are glad to have the Commissioner of the Institute with us, and we are sure the Conference will be pleased to hear from him of the methods adopted by other Conferences in raising that portion of the $15,000 assigned to them.

Your Committee respectfully suggest that in such way as may seem best to the Conference, the sum of $1,000 assigned to us be raised without delay and by the most efficient method. The property offered the Trustees will be held at their refusal for a reasonable time, but we cannot expect in these active business times that it will be kept off the market for an unlimited period. What the Church can do, should be done at once.

Respectfully submitted,

W. W. BENNETT, J. M. ANDERSON, R. T. WILSON, Committee.

RESOLUTION OF J. P. GARLAND.

The Joint Board of Finance, to which was referred the resolution requesting the Board "to consider whether or not the fourth paragraph of the third section of the Financial Plan of the Conference conforms to the law of the Discipline defining the duty and authority of the Board of Stewards," respectfully report that they are of the opinion that there is nothing in the Discipline relating to the powers or duties of the Quarterly Conference, or the powers or duties of Stewards, which authorizes the Quarterly Conference to "recommit or amend" the assessment made by the Board of Stewards. They therefore recommend that paragraph 4, section 3, of the Financial Plan be amended by striking out all of that paragraph except the following: "4. They shall report their action to the ensuing Quarterly Conference."

Respectfully submitted,

November 12th, 1885.

A. G. BROWN, Chairman.

LOAN FUND, CHURCH EXTENSION.

PROPOSITION TO RAISE $5,000

Your committee to whom was referred the proposition submitted by the Board of Church Extension to the several Annual Conferences, to raise the sum of $5,000 each, to constitute a permanent loan fund, beg leave to report for adoption by the Conference the following resolutions:

Ist. Resolved, That while we fully appreciate the importance of such a fund, and would be glad to respond promptly to the request of the Board of Church Extension, yet in view of the earnest effort now being made for the endowment of Kandolph-Macon College, and for the consummation of a most desirable and promising scheme for the comfort and support of our superannuated preachers, we are not prepared at present to pledge the amount requested of us, or to report any plan for raising funds for this object.

2nd. Resolved, That we cordially commend the proposition of the Board of Church Extension to the consideration of our ministers and people, and hope it will meet a liberal response.

LEO. ROSSER, Chairman.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

FROM JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

QUESTION: Where a married preacher is sent to a Circuit where there is no parsonage, is it the duty of the Stewards of that Circuit to provide (in the sense to pay for) an house for the preacher on that Circuit to live in?

J. L. SPENCER.

ANSWER: Yes.

QUESTION: Where a Circuit has no parsonage and the District has provided the Presiding Elder with a parsonage, should the Stewards of that Circuit, in the division of the moneys raised on that Circuit for the support of the ministry, pay the Presiding Elder's monied salary pro rata with what is allowed the preacher on the Circuit for house rent and monied salary too, or should they pay the house rent of the preacher and then divide pro rata?

Answer: In both cases the rental of parsonage should be included: to include in one and exclude in the other would be manifestly unjust.

A. G. BROWN, Chairman.

MONUMENT OVER BISHOP EARLY.

The Committee appointed to erect a monument over the grave of the late Bishop John Early, D. D., beg leave to report that the work is under contract to be finished on or before January 1st next.

The shaft will be of the best Virginia granite, fourteen feet high, resting on a double base; the name Early—a name dear to the Church and doubly dear to this Conference—will appear in capital letters on the sub-base, and the polished Dies will bear appropriate inscriptions.

The money to pay for this work, which the Committee has been authorized to raise, will be cheerfully contributed, as we hope, by the Methodist people of Virginia, to whom Bishop Early gave more than sixty years of faithful and honorable service.

ALEX. G. BROWN, Chairman.

MEMORIALS TO GEN. CONF.

The Committee on Memorials to the General Conference have had under consideration the several papers referred to them. The District Conference of Murfreesboro District and a paper signed by George H. Ray and J. W. Blincoe unite in asking that a memorial be sent to the General Conference requesting that body to organize a general system of Colportage for our work.

A paper was presented by Rev. Dr. Whitehead of this form:

Resolved, That this Conference respectfully memorialize the ensuing General Conference of our Church to change the Discipline as follows:

In paragraph 109, p. 143 (edition of 1882), alter the clause beginning "provided" so that it shall read: "provided, that the accused shall have the privilege of challenging peremptorily three in a committee of nine, or five in a committee of thirteen or more, besides unlimited challenge for cause, of the validity of which the presiding officer shall be the judge."

Resolved, That the General Conference be requested to act upon this memorial separately, without complicating the question with other amendments of the law of trial.

PAUL WHITEHEAD.

Also a second paper, as follows:

Resolved, That this Conference respectfully memorializes the ensuing General Conference to change the Discipline as follows:

Insert in paragraphs 126 and 135, after the word "repentance," the words "of the offence for which he was expelled," and at the close of the paragraphs the words, "and any reception of such expelled person otherwise than in accordance with this paragraph, shall be null and void."

PAUL WHITEHEAD.

A memorial was presented from the Preachers' Meeting of Norfolk and vicinity urging that this body memorialize the General Conference to make a thorough revision of our Hymn-Book.

Your Committee agree in recommending these several subjects to the favorable consideration of the next General Conference, and offer for your adoption the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we hereby memorialize the next General Conference to organize a general system of Colportage for our Church.

Resolved, That we request the General Conference to make the changes referred to in papers No. 1 and 2 respecting the law of the trial of members and of the restoration of an expelled member.

Resolved, That the General Conference be requested to act upon the changes marked in paper No. 1 separately, not complicating it with other amendments of the law of trial which may be considered.

Your Committee had before them also a very able and thoughtful paper in reference to the relation to the Church of baptized children. This very important subject has frequently been before the General Conference, and as your Committee do not see that any practical results would follow from its presentation to that body, they recommend that this memorial be not sent.

Respectfully submitted,

J. D. BLACKWELL, J. E. EDWARDS, PAUL WHITEHEAD, J. W. BRADBURY, J. M. JONES.

THE CONFERENCE MISSION BOARD.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Mission Board of the Virginia Annual Conference makes the following short summary of its operations for the year just closed.

It has had under its charge fourteen mission fields, embracing sixteen charges. These literally are scattered from the Blue Ridge Mountains to the islands which fringe the Atlantic coast of Virginia and North Carolina. To outsiders and persons not conversant with the facts it may appear strange that in this territory there should be mission fields calling loudly for help, but such is the lamentable fact.

In the mountains there are caves and hollows, and on the coast large islands seldom if ever visited by the minister of the Gospel. And all through the intermediate country there are fields where isms and ignorance have choked out the true forms of worship once more or less prevalent-where, but for the Domestic Mission Board, some good people would be left entirely deprived of religious service, and where many others are found almost as bad as heathens.

For instance, Roanoke Island, where the foot of the white man first pressed the soil of the North American Continent, has this year been served by a missionary of this Board. He has this year, on that historic soil, gathered up the remnants of church membership, repaired the churches, and preached the Word. He comes up rejoicing, bringing his sheaves; reporting 141 accessions to the church; 60 infants and 53 adults baptized; 260 scholars taught in five Sunday Schools by 69 officers and teachers. All the benevolent collections of the Church were paid in full. To Foreign Missions, $55, and to Domestic Missions, $26, were contributed, and in all, for Church purposes and collections, $838.

This is an example of what has been done in country work and can be done elsewhere by like diligent effort under God's blessing.

Take another instance. A few years ago—not more than two years—the Granby-Street church, Norfolk, asked permission of the Board to expend its collections for Domestic Missions in home work in and near Norfolk. This was granted. In the past year three suburban churches were completed and paid for; all with organized membership, Sunday Schools, etc. These churches cost $7,800. They have this year raised for church purposes and collections $2,480.27 and two ask for ministers as raised for church purposes and collections $2,480.25, and two ask for ministers, as regular stations, promising to take care of them. The other is continued in its former relation as a Domestic Mission.

Some may say these are rare cases, but they are not the only ones which could be The reason these cases do not oftener occur is that the funds placed at the disposal of the Mission Board only allow an average of about $220 to each Mission, which, on account of deficient collections, are generally scaled from 20 to 25 per cent.

It is very gratifying to the Board that the exhibit of operations and results is more satisfactory this year than usual. The appropriations made to Missions and feeble charges last Conference was $8,560. The receipts to meet these were $6,811.44, an increase of $429 20; allowing the Board to pay 80 cents on the dollar instead of 75 last year.

This Board made an appropriation, under the advice and by the direction of the Bishop, to feeble Stations and Circuits of $5,485, on which it will pay about $4,351.

The results above given, though far from what they might have been under more favorable circumstances, are nevertheless ample to excite the most profound gratitude of the Board and the Church. But the Church can never feel free of blame as long as it directs this Board to send out ministers into the Vineyard at barely living salaries and then gives it every year the mortification and sorrow to pay only a part of what it has appropriated to these hard working men. It is a great drawback to faith and a damper on prayer when God's blessings are invoked on the missionaries' labors and their meagre dues are withheld. Respectfully submitted on the part of the Board,

RICHARD IRBY, Secretary.

R. N. SLEDD, PRESIDENT.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

Your Corresponding Secretary begs leave to submit the following report:

Number of auxiliaries	67
Number of members	1,779
Young People's Societies
Life members
Subscribers to Woman's Missionary Advocate	2 20
Amount of money contributed during the year	$2,419.50

Only five new auxiliaries have been reported to me during the year; strictly speaking, but four have been formed, Mount Vernon auxiliary, Danville, being an old one under a new name. One on the Richmond District has been formed at Manchester. Mrs. Albert West, the vice-President of that District, has been unwearied in her efforts, and it is through no fault of hers that no more has been done.

The zealous vice-president on the Eastern Shore District, Mrs. Eliza O. Scott, has succeeded in forming two auxiliaries, one at Cambridge, Md., the other at Onancock, Va.

A flourishing auxiliary has been formed in Memorial church, Lynchburg, by Mrs. E. S. Brown, vice-president of that District. Our sister's heart is fully in the work, and she shares our regret at not being with us on this occasion.

Others of the vice-presidents have worked for the cause, but have had no results to report. I trust those from whom I have not heard have not been idle.

This is a discouraging exhibit. From year to year we barely hold our own. Though we gain some auxiliaries, yet some old ones have to be dropped, making our number almost unvaried. If a church is considered in a sickly condition when not aggressive, may not the same reproach be justly fastened on a Missionary Society which does not grow?

Our organization is well equipped for the work proposed; we have a full corps of officers, with an intelligent appreciation of the work required. Our ten Districts are under the care of carefully-selected ladies, who are well able to do all the work expected of them. In our Methodist economy the work is so divided that no one may be overburdened and that all may have a share. Following out this idea in our Missionary Society, we have sought to enlist as many as possible in active work.

At the risk of being thought tedious, I will again mention the special duties of our vice-presidents: Each vice-president is expected to supervise the auxiliaries on her District by visiting them when practicable, or by corresponding with them. As many of our auxiliaries are conveniently located to the respective vice-presidents, great gain would ensue from a small expenditure of time and trouble in a systematic oversight of them.

The vice-president should seek to know their exact condition; to advise with and encourage them. Especially should she urge upon them the prompt discharge of their duties in sending quarterly reports to the Conference Corresponding Secretary, and regular remittances to the Conference Treasurer. Too great estimate cannot be put upon the importance of sending quarterly reports; our whole work is crippled by the failure of auxiliaries at this point.

In addition, she should urge the observance of the regular monthly prayer-meeting. She should advocate the interests of our paper, and in all possible ways she should strive to increase the number of auxiliaries in her District. There are at present, unfortunately, so few auxiliaries on any one district that the actual work of the vice-presidents has heretofore been lamentably easy. We hope that the day will speedily dawn when they will have cause to groan, being burdened by the weight of the work. To these sisters we would say, magnify your office. It is a most important one, make it—as it was intended to be—an essential feature of our organization.

Difficulties have beset us during the past year. Financial trouble has come upon us, crippling our resources and diminishing our missionary collections. We have also sustained a serious loss in the resignation of our able and faithful Recording Secretary, Mrs. D. B. Dugger, whose face we sadly miss on this occasion, and whose seat we sigh to see another occupy. Her resignation we must accept with reluctant sorrow.

Though we have not done much, yet we are glad to say that our work at large is growing wonderfully. The Woman's Board has sent out seventeen missionaries in all, seven of which number were sent out in the past eighteen months. China was reinforced by Miss Laura A. Haygood, Miss Dora Hamilton, Miss Jennie M. Atkinson, Miss Mildred M. Phillips, M. D., and Miss Lou Phillips. Miss Mary W. Bruce has joined Miss Watts in Brazil.

The ladies of our Society have always evinced a great interest in our work among the Seminole Indians. Miss Jennie C. Wolfe, you remember, has joined Mrs. Bryan in the charge of the Seminole Academy. They write: "Our school is in a happy and prosperous condition. We have forty regular scholars, all showing the effects of Christian training. Seven of the girls have recently presented themselves for church membership." Let us remember the debt we owe the Indians, and by our prayers and alms contribute to the welfare of the few we have taken under our care.

You have all heard of the High School and Home and Training School Miss Haygood is projecting in Shanghai, a full description of which she has given in a late issue of the Richmond Christian Advocate. The High School will be devoted to the education of girls of the better classes, whose parents will not send them to a charity school, and will be similar in purpose to the Anglo-Chinese University for boys. In regard to the Home, Miss Haygood writes: "If we do the work that God is giving us in Shanghai, we must have here at least twentyfive ladies. In the Home they will not only have the best opportunities for studying the language and the work, but in all the helps the Home may bring to them they will find the sympathy and strength that will enable each to bring from her work the best gifts to the whole." She appeals to the women of Southern Methodism to form a joint stock company to pay into the treasury of the Woman's Missionary Society during the present year $25,000 outside of all regular dues. This money can be paid in $10 shares. The Treasurer will soon tell us how many shares our Conference Society has taken, and we hope that at least one hundred more will be taken during this year.

Miss Haygood writes me that she intends addressing each auxiliary, through its Corresponding Secretary, in our Conference by letter on this subject during this year. Let us send her a hearty response to her appeal. If she gives her life to the work, surely we may give our dollars.

At our last annual meeting it was recommended that we should introduce "blessing boxes" into our auxiliaries. Some, I know, have complied with this recommendation. I hope it has been generally complied with. After abstracting the ten cents contingent fee, the remainder of the money could be used in taking shares in Miss Haygood's Home. If any auxiliary doubts the expediency of individual "blessing boxes," at least one might be kept on the table of such auxiliary, and at each meeting offerings could be deposited therein.

I would again call your attention to the beggarly list of subscribers to our Woman's Missionary Advocate, and would earnestly urge upon the different auxiliaries to take this matter into serious consideration. To further this end let one lady act as agent in soliciting subscriptions in each auxiliary. We have auxiliaries in our Conference Society in which not a single copy of the paper is taken. We hope the vice-presidents will consider this subject, and urge this necessary and almost indispensable assistant upon our auxiliaries.

We reluctantly but candidly confess to a great indifference existing in our Conference in regard to missionary work. Our monthly meetings are at best but poorly attended, not one-fourth of our members usually being present. I believe the Washington-Street Church auxiliary will compare favorably with most, and if out of a membership of nearly seventy, fifteen ladies are present at our regular monthly meeting, we congratulate ourselves on a very fair attendance. Two-thirds of our women have never attended a single meeting, and when their entire interest in the work is comprised in contributing one dollar a year to its funds, and occasionally glancing over the pages of our Advocate, can we wonder that we make such slow progress, and do so little? Probably my experience is more doleful than that of other presiding officers; I sincerely hope it is.

How are we to remedy this evil of indifference? I see but one resource. We must call in the efficient aid of the pulpit, and the surest means to this end is to enlist the sympathies and energies of the preachers' wives more largely than we have so far been able to do. It seems curious that while the Christian world is said to be teeming with enthusiasm for missions, our pulpits are so generally silent on the subject. Can any of us recall hearing more than the regulation sermon on missions, preparatory always to lifting the usual missionary annual collection? Is it not strange, that while the prayer, "Thy Kingdom Come," goes up from the congregation Sunday after Sunday, we are not more arrested by the gladtidings from the pulpit that God is answering our prayers, and told how wonderfully the heathen are being given to the Son for an inheritance? Surely there is enough cheering news from heathendom for our hearts to be often filled with joy at its recital. Let us petition our pastors to consider this subject, and urge them for at least three or four sermons on missions during the year. If you approve the suggestion will you not act on it? If we can carry out this idea, we will see great results in increased zeal among all our members.

Our young people know little or nothing of our glorious record as Methodists. They can only be taught from the pulpit. True there is enough written on the subject, but how little is read. We are distinctively a Missionary Church, and will not lose our prestige. Though our Southern Methodism has had so much home mission work to do in building up the waste places, and repairing the breaches of our Zion, yet we have not been unmindful of our obligations to the regions beyond, and the call Dr. Allen is now making for one hundred and fifty workers in China, together with Miss Haygood's urgent appeals, show what cause we have for thankfulness, and gives us reason to hope for greater results in the near future. O that our Conference Society might be honored in sending forth some laborers into the whitened harvest fields of China! Our missionaries in Mexico are not only taking joyfully the spoiling of their goods in the service of Christ, but are cheerfully risking life itself in the prosecution of their work.

Our Northern brethren, too, have a glorious record in foreign fields. Since 1833, they have entered seventeen mission fields, averaging one foreign mission for every three years. They now number about 58,000 members and probationers in foreign fields, a thousand for each and every year since they begun. In the past year they laid their sainted Bishop Wiley to rest upon the very mission field which in his youth he chose for his life work. Bishop Taylor, at the head of his noble band of workers, with Pauline faith and courage, has gone forth to conquer Central Africa for his Lord. They ask a million a year for missions with confident boldness.

Nothing so kindles our zeal for God's cause as to hear what others have done and suffered for Him.

About a year ago I listened with delight to a lecture in a Northern church, on our own Dr. Coke. The lecturer was not eloquent, but his theme was, and the bare recital of the labors of that most apostolic man, quickened the pulses and caused the heart to thrill. Eighteen times he crossed the Atlantic on missionary work, not as now, when it is a mere pleasure trip, but in slow sailing vessels, and often through tempestuous weather. He freely spent an affluent fortune in the work, then boldly begged alike from saint and sinner for the cause so dear to his heart. Time, wealth, means, he gave all, and at the age of three-score-and-ten, he slept under the Indian Ocean, and as has been beautifully said, "Was the first great gift of Methodism for the redemption of India." "The sea washing all shores is his monument."

How many like records our annals of Methodism affords, let the beautiful "Cameos of Methodism" inform us.

My sisters, if we will turn aside this year from the beaten tracks of our usual reading, and inquire from the records of the past as to our missionary heritage; if we read of the sacrifices our women of old made for the Master, and yearn to become imbued with a like spirit, we will be able at our next meeting to tell of such quickened zeal, and such sweet sacrifices made for the cause, that there will no longer be apathy to be deplored, but we will have instead a service of praise to render to our God and to his Christ.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. C. H. HALL, Cor. Sec. Va. Con. W. M. S.
